

Fantastic Mr. Orange

Gabriel Antonio Rey Gutierrez - 4° A

Once upon a time in Colorpolis lived a simple and normal policeman named Orange. Everybody laugh at him because they thought he couldn't catch even an ant. There also lived Purple, the most famous villains of all times. He was the best at stealing. He had stolen more than 110 cars, 3 banks and at least 6 casinos. One day Purple decided to steal the most expensive jewelry in the world and planned to do it at night. When the time came, he broke into the jewelry store and took a US$ 5 million diamond but when Purple was running away, Orange spotted him and immediately stood in front of him. Purple bumped into him and failed down while Orange remained firm. Unable to stand up, Purple was caught by Orange and then placed in jail. Orange was decorated and became the Commander in town.

The moral of the story; Do not judge persons by the appearances.
