

Mr. Blue

Hello, I'm Harry blue, I live in a small town called "colorvillage." I am 25 years old and I have a little house. I also have a dog called Violet and she's very funny and playful. My job is taking her for walks but I am not so good at it, because when I grow up I want to be an artist. In this town when you reach 27 you can get a real job. Well like my name, my favorite color is blue and my dog's favorite color is violet, or well I think so. I love my city because it has many colors. But the problem is that our food is made up of very strange colors and this has caused us problems because our bodies are turning into various colors and that's why now I am blue. People call me Mr. Blue and I hope one day you can visit us and discover what is going on here. The good news is that no one looks sad because life is not seen anymore just black and white. People are more tolerant and enjoy diversity.
